ALL DANGER OF WAR AVERTED

QUESTION REFERRED TO COMMISSION

Attack on British Trawlers by Russian Squadron to Be Settled in a Peaceful Manner—Silence Broken by Balfour

London, Oct. 28.—All danger of war between Russia and Great Britain has been averted and settlement of the only points in dispute regarding the attack by the Russian squadron on British trawlers has been referred to an international commission under The Hague convention.

Premier Balfour, speaking at a meeting of the national union of Conservative clubs at Southampton to night, broke the silence which had been so long preserved and had brought people of the United Kingdom to a condition of almost desperate irritation and given rise to misconceptions which Balfour to night himself exposed. The Russian ambassador, said Balfour, has authorized a statement to the following effect: The Russian government on hearing of the North sea incident at once expressed its profound regret and also promised most liberal compensation. The government has ordered detention at Vigo of that part of the fleet which was concerned in the incident in order that the naval authorities might ascertain what officers were responsible for it, that those officers and any material witnesses would not proceed on the voyage to the far east; that inquiry would be instituted into the facts by an international commission as provided by The Hague convention.

That, Balfour interlopated, had nothing to do with arbitration; it was the constitution of an international commission in order to find out the facts and any person found guilty would be tried and punished adequately. The Russian government undertook that precautions would be taken to guard against recurrence of such incidents. Special instructions on this subject would be issued. Apology and compensation having already been offered, nothing now remains but to determine which account is correct, Rojestvensky's or the trawlers.

Balfour plainly said that Thursday evening Russia and Great Britain seemed to be on the brink of war and yet gave the frankest praise to the attitude preserved throughout by the emperor and Russian government. While the premier was unable to praise the pacific attitude of the government too highly, he bitterly assailed Rojestvensky's report, declaring it was an insult to Great Britain as a neutral nation, and ridiculed its probability.

Balfour's speech was followed by quieting of intense excitement which prevailed all day and to night conviction is there will be no further difficulties.

PREMIER BALFOUR

Deliver Address Before Immense Meeting at Amherst.

South Amherst, England, Oct. 28.—Premier Balfour addressed an immense meeting here to night. His appearance was the signal for great cheering, which was again and again renewed. Balfour said he believed the lamentable and deplorable tragedy of Oct. 21-22 would not end in war. The matter had been referred to an international commission and both sides would abide by the decision of the international commission, which would consider all questions at issue, and thus war between the two great nations would be avoided without dishonor. The premier said it was incredible that a fishing fleet could be engaged in hostile operation and ridiculed the idea of a torpedo boat attack. The Russian fleet was thirty miles out of its course and it was absurd to suppose the commander of the alleged torpedo craft would choose a position for attacking the Russian fleet in the center of a fishing fleet. Balfour said the nearest Japanese warship was 14,000 miles away. Such a story as that told by the Russian admiral was the purest fancy.

The premier hoped the truth would be manifest and clear as noonday when the inquiry, which the Russian emperor welcomed, took place. The Russian government had not at any time underrated the gravity of the crisis or failed to do what it could in the matter. Balfour thought the difficulty was surmounted. The Russian version of the occurrence was equivalent to attack on Great Britain's national honor. Phantom ships—creatures of the purest fancy—were the cause of the Russian ships' attack. He was glad to say the Russian government had agreed with Great Britain concerning necessity for investigation. Responsibility for the attack would be placed and persons punished. In agreeing to these things Russia had taken a view which commended itself to other civilized nations. Russia had given a pledge that she will prevent a recurrence of the tragedy which filled all hearts with sorrow and the hearts of most men with indignation.

The Russian ambassador has authorized the statement that the Russian government on hearing of the North sea incident at once expressed profound regret and the Russian emperor telegraphed the king in similar terms. The Russian government had also promised the most liberal compensation and had shown a desire that truth and justice in this matter should prevail. Entire facts must be brought out at the investigation, which, Balfour pointed out, would be made by three disinterested parties—first, by the international commission; second, by the board of trade inquiry; third, by the coroner's inquest.

AMBASSADOR'S STATEMENT.

London, Oct. 28.—Ambassador Benkendorff, who felt bound to silence until Balfour spoke, to night expressed great pleasure over the result of negotiations in the North sea flair. Benkendorff said:

"There never was any question of apology and compensation. These were freely conceded as announced by the Associated Press early in the week. The only approach to a hitch occurred in connection with the question of guarantee of punishment. When those differences appeared acute the whole situation was changed by appearance of Rojestensky's report. That was obviously made in good faith. It is possible our admiral's subordinates made a mistake; neither he nor they are infallible. That they made a mistake in hitting the trawlers is obvious; that they were mistaken in believing they saw torpedo boats remains to be proved. But if they are not infallible, how much less so are the fishermen? The British government said it was impossible for torpedo boats to be where the Russians thought them to be. The statements on both sides absolutely conflicted and so there was no other way of determining that point than by arbitration. As a friend of peace, America will, I am sure, welcome that decision, which was arrived at after negotiations which in themselves were of nothing but the friendliest character."

RELIEF FELT AT ST. PETERSBRUG.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—There is a feeling of profound relief to night in higher government spheres and diplomatic circles over the result of negotiations concerning the North sea disaster. The outcome is attributed in diplomatic circles mainly to direct interposition of Emperor Nicholas and King Edward. The British government in the face of excited public ophion proposed submission of the issues to a commision under The Hague convention while the Russian government was preparing a similar proposal to Great Britain. Neutral powers, notably France, and, it is believed here, the United States, were using all their influence to avoid a world catastrophe. Definite assurance of settlement came this afternoon when the emperor at an audience with Foreign Minister Lamsdorff announced his complete and hearty approval of the plan for an international commission. Meanwhile orders had already been sent to Vigo to detain the ships which participated in the firing on the trawlers until detailed arrangements for procedure could be agreed upon. Both governments now seem to be striving for the honor of the first proposal of this method of settlement of the questions at issue.

TENSION RELIEVED

Probable Settlement of Anglo-Russian Trouble Pleasing to France.

Paris, Oct. 28.—News from London late this evening that the Anglo-Russian trouble had been put in the way of settlement by reference to a committee of inquiry in accordance with the lines laid down by The Hague conference, has relieved tension felt here the last few days. Foreign Minister Delcasse is in constant communication with the French ambassador at London, and St. Petersburg, and it was apparent he was prepared to act very energetically if it became evident Russia and Great Britian were unable to reach an agreement between themselves. Ambassador Cambon in London made it known to Lansdowne, that if the crisis became acute FFrance stood ready to accede to request from either side for exercise of her good offices. Cambon's part in securing a solution of the controversy is the cause of congratulation here. His negotiations with foreign Ministre Lansdowne were largely the result of his personal initiative, and tactfulness.

WILL TAKE ACTION

Washington, Oct. 28.—Immediate action looking to the arrest and trial of outlaws implicated in the murder of Mr. Larrabee, American missionary, nearly a year ago in Persia, will be insisted upon by Dr. Norton, who has been sent to Persia by the state department, accredited to Teheran as envoy on a special mission. Norton is American consul at Harput, who has recently been investigating troubles in Turkey.

FOUR CONVICTS ESCAPE.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 28.—Four convicts escaped from the penitentiary here to day.—James Wilson, serving seven years for burglary; Edward McPherson, ten for burglary; John Cabo, ten for assault and robbery; Thomas McGlynn, for larceny. They climbed into an attic and worked their way through the roof to the wall. By means of a rope they had picked up they climbed from the wall to the railroad track. A guard fired at them at long range, but failed to hit any of them and they disappeared to the northward.

WORD FROM GEN. STOESSEL

BIDS RUSSIANS GOOD BYE FOREVER

Commander at Port Arthur Says Glorious Death Is Preferable to Capitulation—News From Scene of War.

Shanghai, Oct. 28.—A private letter from Port Arthur, dated Oct. 21, received here, says:

"General Stoessel wired the Russian emperor and court recently: 'I now bid you all good bye forever. Port Arthur is my grave.' Stoessel has instilled the garrison with a spirit that to court a glorious death is preferable to capitulation. Japanese shells are inflicting great damage to the Russian fleet in the harbor and to fortifications. The arsenal with its contents of ammunition and small arms has been destroyed and preparations are being made for most deadly struggle at close quarters. The water supply having been cut off, wells are being sunk. Provisions are scarce. Soldiers hold gala feasts on horses killed by shells. General Simmoff would surrender, but is overruled by Stoessel. Certain troops included in the garrison have to be closely watched at present for fear of desertion or treachery. Field and naval hospitals are crowded and hygienic conditions are becoming desperate. Bombardment at times is so incessant it is impossible to bury the dead to any depth.

"Over half the original garrison are dead, wounded or sick. The Japanese have practically destroyed the new town. Besiegers are pressing closer daily and it is hard to say how long we can hold out. When the end comes there will be a desperate fight. Thousands of the enemy will perish, as everything is mined."

This letter was entrusted to a native boatman, who ran the blockade and mailed it at Chefoo.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—Alarmist reports from foreign sources of alleged critical situation of the Port Arthur garrison and of renewal of Japanese attacks upon that stronghold created considerable popular anxiety here over the fate of the fortress, which had been overlooked by the public the last few days, owing to the absorbing interest taken in the North sea complications. The government states it is without advices, though it realizes the situation in the fortress must be growing daily much mor difficult. However, it maintains firm belief that the garrison will be able to hold out.

AT DALNY.

Chefoo, Oct. 28.—Japanese at Dalny report continued arrival of huge siege guns. Eleven Chinese who left Port Arthur the 19th arrived here to day. They say several Russian warships have been hit by dropping shells, but none sunk. They estimate able-bodied soldiers there now at 16,000. Scarce a night passes without small engagements over minor positions and artillery fire is exchanged daily.

WAR REPORTS.

Tokio, Oct. 28.—It is reported the Japanese opened a desperate general attack on the eastern forts of the Keekwan group north of Port Arthur during the morning of Oct. 26 and silenced the Russian batteries, a shell exploding the Russian magazines. Simultaneously the Japanese attacked forts on Rihlung mountain and Sunghoiowian mountain, silenced the Russian batteries, stormed and occupied the forts in front of these mountains. On the night of the 26th there was a conflagration in old Port Arthur and on the 27th a shell hit the Russian battleship Sevastopol and two Russian steamers were sunk. Official confirmation of the above is lacking, but the reports are believed to be true.

Vladivostok, Oct. 28.—The British steamers Allenton and Calchasq, seized by the Vladivostok squadron, have been released.

Kuroki's Headquarters, Oct. 28.—Yesterday in a determined fight Japanese drove Russians from a high hill ten miles east of the railroad in Kuroki's front, which is important strategically as a post of observation, and was the only point south of the Shakhe river which the Russians held. About a regiment of Russians was entrenched there with five machine guns.

Japanese rushed the Russian trenches and shot many Russians as they were running down the hillside and captured two machine guns. The Japanese had twenty men killed and thirty wounded. The Russians left thirty dead on the field. There was hand to hand fighting when the trenches were taken. The Russians retired across the river.

Tokio, Oct. 29.—A press telegram from Kuroki's headquarters reports that Thursday the Japanese captured Waitaoshan after sharp fighting. The Japanese captured two machine guns. Russian casualties are estimated at 200, Japanese at 170. The Russians retreated across the Shakhe river.

GOLF CONTEST.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 28.—Miss Pauline Mackay Oakley defeated Miss Georgianna Bishop, national champion, at the golf tournament of the Country club to day in the final match by a score of 1 up, nineteen holes.

JUDGE PARKER

Esopus, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Judge Parker to day sent the following telegram to William J. Bryan: "I wish to thank you for the splendid service you have rendered to the Democratic party in Indiana and elsewhere during the present campaign."

Judge Parker addressed to day a delegation composed largely of farmers from Orange and Rockland counties, New York.

Parker in a long speech to the delegation touched upon imperialism, extravagance in government expenditures and trusts, supplementing and elaborating upon his views heretofore expressed. He said no more satisfactory evidence of widespread public interest in attempt to control elections by moneys of corporate and trust funds need be looked for than that furnished by the president and former Attorney General Knox.

In a speech delivered here to day Judge Parker, speaking of the Philippines, referred to a report concerning the Islands from which he quoted in a recent speech Parker said the writer of the communication "has had exceptional opportunities for learning the truth," and he vouches for the author's "honesty, skill as a trained investigator, judgment in weighing evidence and reliability as a witness."

The communication alluded to is a five column letter in the New York Post signed by H. Parker Willis and addressed to Charles Francis Adams, Carl Schurz, Edwin Burritt Smith, Herbert Welsh and Moorfield Storey, and by them transmitted to Parker. It reviews at length conditions in the Philippines, where the writer spent four months, and sums them up as follows:

"We have, in fact, destroyed public buildings of the country; inflicted continuous crop losses during a period of six years; ravaged and burned large sections of territory; produced conditions leading to death of most of the farm animals and serious human and animal epidemics; brought foreign trade to an unprofitable condition by our tariff legislation; inaugurated a tremendously expensive government for the benefit of foreign officeholders; established a partisan judiciary; crowded prisons and deported or sent to the galoiws the best and most patriotic native leaders."

BRYAN REPLIES TO PARKER.

Omaha, Oct. 28.—William J. Bryan, replying to Judge Parker's message of thanks for Bryan's efforts in his behalf, answered to night: "I am paying an installment on the debt I owe the American people by endeavoring to secure for them reforms which your administration will bring."

COCKRAN IN INDIANA.

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—W. Bourke Cockran spoke on the issues of the campaign to a large audience here to night. He argued that the Republican party should be given credit for not having entirely destroyed prosperity in the country, but should be charged with having by vicious legislation prevented the country from enjoying that degree of prosperity which the fertility of the soil, of treasures of mines and productiveness of the people justified."

MINE EXPLOSION

Between Thirty and Sixty Men Killed at Teroio, Colorado.

Trinidad, Colo., Oct. 28.—A terrific explosion occurred at mine No. 3 of the Rocky Mountain Fuel and Iron company at Terolo, forty miles west of Trinidad, this afternoon and the number of dead is variously placed at between thirty and sixty men. The mine works eighty men and it is believed at least sixty were in the mine when the explosion occurred.

Company officials and doctors immediately went to the mine and to night hundreds of men from adjacent camps are trying to enter. Deadly fumes overcome rescuers frequently, but their places are immediately taken by others. It is not thought possible any one in the mine can escape death, if they are not all dead already. The explosion is supposed to have been caused by dust.

COLLISION AT SEA

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 28.—The steamer Mainlander of the Pacific Coast Steamship company fleet lies at the bottom of Puget sound four miles north of Seattle as a result of a collision in a dense forg with the powerful tug Sea Lion. No lives were lost despite the fact the Mainlander had sixteen passengers and a crew of thirty. The Mainlander was valued at $100,000.

KEMPF STAYS ON TICKET.

Milwaukee, Oct. 28.—Under a decision of th ecircuit court to day the name of John J. Kempf will remain on the Lafollette ticket as candidate for treasurer. At the time the discrepancy in his accounts was discovered Kempf resigned from the ticket. He alleged his resignation was obtained under duress and sued for an injunction to restrain the committee taking his name from the ticket. The decision to day favors Kempf.

REPLY SENT TO J. N. TYNER

ANSWER TO LETTER MADE PUBLIC YESTERDAY

Written by Secretary Loeb by Direction of President Roosevelt—Various Reasons Given for President's Action in Case.

Washington, Oct. 28.—By direction of the president, Secretary Loeb to day sent to James N. Tyner, former assistant postmaster general, a letter in reply to the Tyner letter made public last night, and in which Tyner charged the president with inspiring issue of falsehoods regarding him.

Loeb's letter says that as the question of Tyner's guilt on the criminal charge on which he was tried has been passed upon by a jury, the president acquiesces in the jury finding, but evidence "seems to him overwhelming that you (Tyner) were guilty either of moral obliquity in performances of duty or of the grossest inefficiency." The letter says: "There are certain matters which could not come before the jury which are necessary for the president to consider when you request him to take action to rehabilitate your character." The letter here mentions the visit of Mrs. Tyner and Mrs. Barrett to Tyner's office and the filing of the safe, and continues: "The department of justice has never been able to know what documents were abstracted form the safe, and the president has the right to assume they would not have been abstracted in this manner had they not been of a character to greatly incriminate your and Barrett. As regards this and all of the other actions the president was at one time inclined to excuse you on the ground of your failing powers, but as you made common cause with Barrett it was difficult to see how this excuse could be put forward."

Reference is made to a letter from Tyner to the postmaster at Portage, Wis., asking Tyner's daughter be retained in that office. "But I don't want my daughter to remain at Portage except with your full acquiescence. I can secure a transfer for her to probably any other office I may select. If she goes elsewhere the money that pays her salary will go to the office to which she has been transferred."

Commenting on this, the letter says: "This request was a grossly improper one for a man in your position to make of a postmaster, and your letter certainly implies that favors may be given or withheld at will."

The postmaster at Portage suggested that Tyner's daughter be transferred to Chicago to avoid jealopsy in his office which might result from the fact she was to receive more salary than any other employe in the office. She was transferred to Chicago and the position she held at Portage abolished. The letter says: "It appears, therefore, that your were keeping your daughter in the postal service simply for the sake of giving her the salary and that when she did not occupy the position it was not deemed necessary to fill it at all; and you actually called attention of the postmaster at Portage to this fact in order to induce him to retain your daughter, pointing out to him that, as actually happened, he would lose the appropriation for the position unless he acted as you desired."

The secretary also quotes from a letter written April 8, 1902, by Tyner to the postmaster at Ware, Mass., "requesting," the secretary says, "that he appoint one Cora Watson as a clerk in his office on condition that he was provided with an allowance to pay her salary." He continues:

"In this letter you, a law official of the postoffice department, deliberately instructed the postmaster to violate the law by appointing Cora Watson in the Ware postoffice, where her services were not needed, subsequent to the office having been classified. The furtiveness of your action is shown by this statement in your letter to the postmaster: 'You can do as you wish about giving out the impression she is there as a representative of the postoffice department to assist in establishment of free delivery. It is only frank, however, to say that is not a postoffice expert.'

"It was not a bona fide appointment, but one designed improperly to get Miss Watson in the classified service. When the postmaster objected you assumed an offended tone in your letter to him April 14, asking him why he used so much 'ceremony' and why he was 'timid' in the matter, assuring him that the appointment was proper and correct and warranted by law, because you were the law advisor not only of the postoffice department, but of the entire postal service; and yet you could not possibly have been ignorant that the transaction was an illegal one."

TYNER'S STATEMENT.

General Tyner to night issued a statement in which he affirmed the president had misstated the facts in the latter made public to day. The allegation that his wife had committed a "burglary" at the postoffice department, Tyner said, was "so ommerile as it is unjustified." He says all official letters taken by his wife were returned except that he said to his office was made openly during office hours.

The appointments referred to in the letter, Tyner insists, "were entirely in accordance with law and civil service rules." Tyner declares "the president has not justified his accusations against me, while I have faced a trial before a jury of my peers and been vindicated."

SUBWAY ACCIDENT.

New York, Oct. 28.—The first serious accident since the formal opening of the subway occured to day when a young woman named Sadie Lawson, of Jersey City, fell between the platform and a local train and was badly crushed. When the rush hour schedule went into effect to day everything in the subway was in perfect order and the big downtown crowds were handled with little trouble.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE.

Peoria, Oct. 28.—A controlling interest in the Herald-Transcript was purchased to day by Charles May, for the past year with the McClure Newspaper syndicate, and Francis H. Sisson, who has been connected with McClure's Magazine.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

What Trans-Mississippi Congress Favors.

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—The Trans-Mississippi congress to day adopted resolutions favoring liberal expenditures for improvement of rivers and harbors and to control floods in rivers, recommend a project of deep water between Minneapolis and St. Louis and substitution of a dam and lock for the present canal at Des Moines rapids; also the following:

"We favor union of labor and combination of capital as proper means to advance the public good. We condemn any act of either combined labor or capital that in any way abridges the natural rights of man. We recommend enforcement of the Sherman act of 1890 and to that end urge congress to pass an amendment to that act making it the duty of United States district attorneys to prosecute all unions of labor or capital whenever evidence making a 'prima facie' case of breach of the terms of the act are presented."

DISASTROUS FIRE

New York, Oct. 28.—A fire believed to have been of incendiary origin swept over piers, warehouses and shipping at the Bush Terminal company's stores in South Brooklyn to day. The loss is estimated at $500,000. One policeman is known to have lost his life. Several firemen were badly injured. The steamships American of the American and Hawaiian Steamship company and Citta di Palmero of the Italian line were badly damaged and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of cotton, hemp and general cargo partially destroyed. Much ill feeling is said to exist between the terminal company and some residents of the neighborhood because the company desired to close certain South Brooklyn streets, hence the incendiary charge.

An eye witness says that immediately following the explosion heavy timbers were shot out of the two air shafts and broken into splinters and that the ruined rocks, broken timbers and all kinds of debris for fully a minute and many people were injured by being struck with these missiles.

IN WORLD'S FAIR CITY

Large Audience Addressed by Senator Fairbanks in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—Senator Fairbanks addressed an immense crowd here to night. He referred to the display at the exposition as marking the highest development of the people of the United States in all the vast field of their endeavor. "Great as have been our past achievements," he said, "greater victories await us in the future if we but hold fast to the great policies under which we made such marvelous progress. The policies of the Republican party stimulate activities of our people and much of the advance in manufactures and much of the industrial progress which we witness in this great exposition are the fruit of Republican policies. We see about us upon every hand the evidences of prosperity, progress and development. We should beware that we adopt no policies that will arrest them."

PROMINENT CHURCHMAN DYING.

Cincinnati, Oct. 28.—Archbishop William Henry Elder was taken suddenly sick to day and has been sinking so rapidly that the last sacraments were administered shortly before midnight. It is thought the archbishop, who is in his eighty-fifth year, will not survive the night.

At 1 o'clock this morning (Saturday) the archbishop's physician announced he had grown stronger and might recover.

COOL WEATHER HELPS TRADE

BETTER THAN LAST YEAR THIS DATE

Satisfactory Report From Industries — Collections Are Good—Increase of Railway Earnings.

New York, Oct. 28.—Bradstreet's says for the past week of trade: Cooler weather has helped the retail trade at the west and south. This is reflected in some reorder business from jobbers and wholesalers, where trade, while steady and better than last year at this date, is not entirely up to expectations. This is possibly due in a measure to the close proximity of election, which is credited in a few reports with holding back some orders. The industries give quite satisfactory reports, iron in its crude form leading, with active demand at advancing prices. Collections are classed as good. Railway earnings for the first half of October will run over 6 per cent over that time last year.

Features in this week's dispatches are good reports from the leading western centers as to retail trade. Settled cool weather is needed at the east to stimulate fall distribution of retail trade. Eastern shoe manufacturers are well employed in fal lorders and shoe shipments show a gain of 7 per cent over this week last year, but are 7 per cent behind for the year. Boston reports a demand for cotton goods at first hands retarded because of drop in raw material. Woolen goods as well are affected. Raw wool is less active at the east, but firmly held for what supplies are available. Anthracite coal is rather in better shape. Bituminous is also picking up. Lumber is fairly active at all western points. There is more building of all kinds contemplated, and white pine displays more strength. The pig iron market displays notable strength; activity not confined entirely to ruder forms, although finding its chief exhibition therein. Bars, plates and structural material are more active at the west and hardware dealers and manufacturers note activity in this line. Other metals, notably copper and lead, tend higher.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week were 1,480,000 bushels, against 4,065,000 bushels this week last year; July 1, to date 22,452,000 bushels, against 53,302,000 bushels last year.

Corn exports 349,000 bushels, against 1,492,000 bushels a year ago; July 1, to date 10,205,000 bushels, against 18,443,000 bushels in 1903.

DUN'S REPORT.

Dun's says: Mild weather early in the week checked the distribution of seasonable goods, but had permanent value in facilitating the harvesting of cotton and late grain. Subsequently the temperature fell, restoring retail trade in wearing apparel, fuel and similar products to greater activity than was experienced last year. Building operations are active, strengthening the markets for lumber and material. Manufacturing plants are making steady gains, particularly in the leading industrials, and it is significant that reluctance to do business has shifted from buyers to sellers, eliminating largely concessions in prices that prevented stability. Labor is unusually well employed, judging from official reports of United States railway earnings in three weeks of October, 9.2 per cent larger than in 1903. Foreign commerce at this port for the last week exceeded the same period a year ago by $1,589,770 in value of exports, and $1,014,861 in imports. Improvements are emphasied by large orders for pig iron, which has caused moderate advance in prices of Bessemer and gray forge, as well as foundry, and there is less readiness to accept long term contracts at current rates. Textile manufacturing returns are again irregular, while eminently satisfactory reports come fom the woolen industry.

BANK CLEARINGS.

New York, Oct. 28.—Total bank clearings compiled by Bradstreet's for the past week were $2,779,082,004, an increase of 4.2 per cent compared with the corresponding week last year.

DEATHS.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 28.—Cornelius Shields, general manager of the Consolidated Lake Superior corporation here, died to day of heart failure.

MAHER KNOCKED OUT.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—Before the Broadway Athletic club Peter Maher was knocked out by Fred Cooley, of Chicago, by a body blow in the first round.

DROPPED DEAD.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Former Gov. George K. Nash dropped dead in his bath room.

STATEMENT INCORRECT.

London, Oct. 28.—London agents of the Norwegian steamer Skoatol say the statement cabled from Copenhagen last night to the effect the vessel was fired upon by a Russian warship Sunday is incorrect.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Rumor That Wabash and Alton May Reach New Agreement Regarding Junction—At the Shops.

The fact that R. C. Fleming, division passenger and ticket agent of the Wabash at Springfield; J. F. McClure, general passenger agent and T. J. Burns, division passenger agent of the C. & A., were in the city together Thursday, has given rise to the rumor that the friendly relations of the two roads in this city will be resumed, and that Wabash tickets will be again handled at the Alton station. The trouble that broke the agreement of the C. & A. in this city occurred two or three years ago, and resulted in the Wabash compelling the Alton to remove their passenger station, express office and other property out of the Wabash right of way. If the former plan of the roads should be renewed, it would be a great accommodation to the traveling public, as the distance between the two stations often makes a transfer very inconvenient.

H. O. Campbell, of Carrollton, formerly signal man for the C. & A., was in the city Friday evening.

* * *

* * *

The slow order for the C., P. & St. L. crossing of the Wabash is being maintained by the Wabash, although the crossing has been repaired. This step is a commendable one, as the rate at which the fast trains have been making the crossing dangerous.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into coisideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by all leading druggists.

DRAMATIC NOTES

The New York Journal says that Lillian Russell is to receive from Sam S. Shubert, under whose direction she will star in "Lady Teazle," a salary of $2,000 a week. If this is true, Miss Russell need only sing during a season of twenty-five weeks in order to obtain a sum equal to the annual salary of the President of the United States. Her pay for each appearance at this rate would be $285.70, or about $95.23 an hour. Miss Russel will be presented in "Lady Teazle" somewhat earlier than was intended, giving her first performance in the piece about Nov. 21 at the Casino Theatre, New York—a house associated with a majority of her great successes. The music of the comic opera is by A. Baldwin Sloan, while the book is the first work for the stage done by John Kendrick Bangs, author of "The Houseboat on the Styx" and "Coffee and Repartee." Mr. Bangs is now editor of Puck.

"The Royal Chef," a musical comedy, being presented by Sam S. Shubert, has a list of songs of especially euphonistic titles. Among these are "An Admirable Admiral," "The Tale of the Tailless Frog" and "Timothy Tolliver, of Timbuctoo."

—(o)—

Frank J. Wilstach contributes to one of the November magazines a most interesting article on the subject of great trial scenes in great plays. Mr. Wilstach has found several hundreds of pieces in which the most important incident is a legal tug-of-war, chief among the number, of course, "The Merchant of Venice" and "The Winter's Tale." He believes the most stirring example in the modern drama to be Franz Adam Beyerlein's "Taps," now being acted by Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon. This play reaches its climax in a court martial episode in which a young woman confesses her relationship with an army officer in order to prevent his perjuring himself.

Dan Cupid has been proving himself an adamant walking delegate in both of the companies playing the musical comedy, "A Chinese Honeymoon." No fewer than three girls in the western and two in the eastern organization have given in to his arguments this month, one of the latter young women being Stella Beardsley.

—(o)—

Paula Edwardes will begin her third season in "Winsome Winnie" on November 11 at New London, Ct. Miss Edwardes continues under the management of Sam S. Shubert.

—(o)—

Edward Terry, the celebrated English comedian, has just appended the announcement of another engagement to that of his forthcoming engagement at the Princess theatre, New York. This new contract is not with Sam S. Shubert, but with Lady Harris, the widow of the late Sir Augustus Harris. Mr. Terry declares that his marriage will take place before he comes to America, which will be in January.

It is not often that a manager is troubled with an excess of good things in a new production, and, when this does happen, he is sure of success. Writing material into a play after it is presented usually disjoints the plot and proves fatal; when there is too much matter that which is least effective may be cut out and what remains is certain to the cream of the manuscript. "The Pit" ran until after midnight at its premiere in Hartford, "Zaza" lasted until nearly 1 o'clock when it opened in Washington.

Such an embarrass de riche is troubling Sam S. Shubert in connection with "Fantana" in which Jefferson de Angelis is appearing at the Garrick Theatre, Chicago. "Fantana" begins every night at 8 and never yet has been concluded before 12. Mr. Shubert has made repeated efforts to shorten the performance, but has not succeeded, without eliminating some feature which had brought laughter and applause. Moreover, people like Mr. De Angelis, Katie Barry, Adele Ritchie and Frank Rushworth object to any scissoring which lessens their chances of making hits so that Mr. Shubert is really up against a stone wall. It is likely that "Fantana" will continue to run until midnight for an indefinite period.

If troubled with a weak digestion try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They will do you good. For sale by all leading druggists.

WILL PREACH HERE SUNDAY.

Prof. W. F. Edwards, principal of the Snow Hill Normal and Industrial Institute at Snow Hill, Ala., is expected in the city to day to remain over Sunday. He will occupy the pulpit at Westminster church Sunday morning and at State Street Sunday evening. He represents the second largest industrial school for the colored people in the world, the first school in the land being that of Booker T. Washington. Prof. Edwards' school is now ten years old, and during that time has become a most prosperous institution, and is experiencing a remarkable growth. It is hoped that all interested in this work will hear Professor Edwards Sunday.

ASKS FOR INJUNCTION.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Charging that the continued operation of the Western Union Life Insurance company and Insurance Company of Pennsylvania means loss to the public and involves hazard for their policy holders, Superintendent of Insurance Vanderburgh has asked for an injunction restraining the companies from continuing in business in Illinois. Neither company, it is asserted, has complied with the state insurance laws.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LITERBERRY NEWS.

The official members of the M. E. church of Literberry circuit are asked to not forget the first quarterly conference, which is to be held in the parsonage at Literberry on Monday morning, Nov. 7, at 9 o'clock.

The meetings which are being conducted by Rev. J. A. Murray at Zion Chapel are increasing in interest.

There will be preaching services at Union church Sunday morning, and at Arcadia at 3 p. m.; also at 7:30 p. m., at Zion, near Little Indian.

Rev. J. A. Murray and Zack Rexroat expect to attend the Jacksonville district prayer and consultation service, to be held in Jacksonville Tuesday, Nov. 1.

On Sunday, Oct. 23, at Zion church, took place the funeral of Mrs. Peterson, at 2:30 in the afternoon. She died in the hospital at Jacksonville from typhoid fever and pneumonia. The remains were interred in Zion cemetery.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Donovan, living near Little Indian, died Wednesday evening. It was buried by a few friends in Zion cemetery Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur Culler, accompanied by her brother, attended the great world's fair at St. Louis the latter part of last week.

Corn huskers are scarce around here. There is a great demand for men for all kinds of work. This is a good place for some good laboring men.

The Baptist church has been repainted and has undergone other repairs which makes it look beautiful.

Miss Maude Liter and mother have returned from the world's fair.

BETTER THAN PILLS.

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is—They are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle and so agreeable that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and aid the digestion. For sale at 25 cents per bottle by all leading druggists.

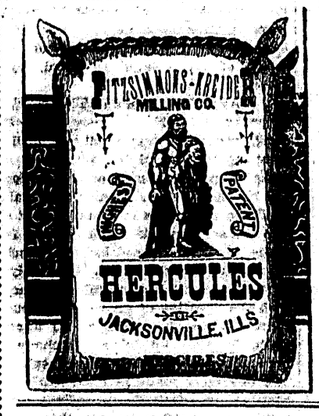
READ THIS.

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 25, 1902.—Nearly three years ago, with a second attack of serious illness, I was surprised to learn that I had diabetes. Providentially I was led to procure a bottle of Dr. E. W. Hall's Specific for Kidney and Bladder Troubles, known as A TEXAS WONDER. Less than half of the $1 bottle effected a complete and permanent cure. Consequently I believe it to be a medicine of very great value. L. B. Kent, Evangelist.

"Clmax" Cash Sale

Instead of going to the expense of a cooking exhibition, giving away a range or stove to any one, we intend that every one who buys for cash a Climax Range, Base Burner, Climax Hot Blast Oak or other Climax stoves, shall receive what this exhibit or drawing would cost us. With this end in view we will allow a special discount of 5 per cent on Climax goods, only during September, October and November. This does not apply to "Round Oaks," so do not expect it.

H. L. & B. W. SMITH



Why, is Hercules Flour the best on the market?

First: Because it is made from the very best selected wheat.

Second: Because with the improved machinery we have in our mill it is free from dust and dirt. We let the dust collectors eat the dust and give you purer, whiter flour than any on the market.

Third: We have testimonials that will prove to you that it will make better bread, biscuits or cakes than any flour you have ever used. Try one sack and you will be convinced.

HANDSOME COMPLIMENT.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Springfield, Oct. 25, 1904.

Mr. C. W. Buckingham, Architect, Jacksonville, Ill.—Dear Sir: Kindly advise estimated cost of contract price for the large piers which you are working for gates and arch we are building for you. We are designing an entrance way to a large cemetery in the east, and are so pleased with the general design of yours that we should like to use some of its features. Your entrance way will, we believe, taking it all in all, make one of very superior lines and proportions, and pleases us more than one of a great many hundred that go through our office. Yours very truly,

WHAT HE WANTED

New York Salesman Did Not Find It Until He Reached Jacksonville.

Irving Johnson, a drummer who is well known to many of our merchants, was in town yesterday, stopping at the Dunlap, where a man heard him tell a few new stories that he had collected on his last trip.

"I am glad to see," said Mr. Johnson, "that Jacksonville is right up to date in cigars as well as in other things. I have been hunting for a Wadsworth Bros. Chicos in the last half dozen towns, and did not find one until I went into Armstrong & Armstrong's drug store this morning. That cigar is all right, I can tell you, and although it cost only 5c, yet I push them out to my customers, knowing that they will think it is a 10c or two for a quarter."

The Wadsworth Bros'. Chicos is an all Havana filled cigar that smokes just as a cigar ought from start to finish, burning evenly with a long, clean, firm ash.

Its flavor appeals to the lover of high grade cigars and its price to all sensible smokers.

NOTICE.

I will sell for cash, at 2 o'clock today, in front of the court house, the Rearick property, next west of the high school. Buildings and lot will be offered separately.

COLOR RUSH.

As a culmination of a series of class raids for the purpose of hazing one another, the Whipple classes of '05 and '06 engaged in a color rush Friday morning. The fight was short, but furious. Both sides claim a victory on account of the action of several upper classmen who were desirous of showing their authority. As a result what gave promise of being a good old fashioned color rush ended in a dispute. '06 had gained a little distance and when the upper classmen interfered, taking advantage of the hill, the seniors pulled the colors away, and retained them in their possession. After the rush the seniors celebrated the ceremony of burning the middlers' colors which they had captured the night before.

For County Surveyor,
MANSELL DUDLEY.

The county candidates are daily making a good impression and convincing the voters that it will be for the welfare of the county to elect the Republican ticket. The people will certainly be wise and do the best they can for themselves, and that will be the election of the entire ticket.

Mr. Deneen is making a manly canvass and will continue to do so until the day of election. The people of Illinois have had enough of the rule which so disgraced and prostrated it in every way, and they will take delight in voting for the fearless official who enforced the law in the great city of Chicago regardless of party or favoritism of any sort.

Not a Republican state official has gone wrong or in any way disgraced the state and party to which he belongs. Not a treasurer of any institution has defaulted nor has any high official been convicted of malfeasance in office, while on the contrary all have reflected credit on themselves and the great commonwealth. It will be well to continue this state of things for another four years.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. For seven years we have had the good times of Republican prosperity, and it behooves us all to labor unceasingly that we may continue this condition of affairs for another term, and for several terms more, which means that we should by all means elect the Republican ticket.

The candidates for office in Morgan county on the Republican ticket are men who are known to all voters at all acquainted with the citizens of old Morgan. They are men of clean record, upright in their dealings, capable in their management of affairs and ready to do their duty by all. Give them each and all a good majority, and it will be better for the taxpayers and all concerned.

The Republicans of Morgan county invite inspection of their ticket. It contains the names of men who will bear close investigation, and will not suffer by it, but improve on close acquaintance. They are men known and read far and near, and as such will stand well before the people, and all they ask is investigation. Let it be done and a fair verdict will result in a Republican victory.

Our candidates for the legislature on the Republican ticket are first class men. Mr. Heinl is a man who is every way peculiarly well qualified for the position by education, experience and temperament. He will make a good official in all respects and reflect credit on the people of Morgan and the same may be said of the candidate from Sangamon county. Give each a vote and a half and send both to the legislature.

SPENT MORE THAN $1,000.

W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife suffered from lung trouble for fifteen years. She tried a number of doctors and spent over $1,000 without relief. She became very low and lost all hope. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and thanks to this great remedy it saved her life. She enjoys better health than she has known in ten years." STATE MEETING

Historical Society Has Arranged Program and Lincoln Exhibit to Be Shown—Will Meet in Springfield.

Springfield, Oct. 28.—Social features will be in prominence as a part of the program at the annual meeting of the Illinois State Historical society, which will be held in the supreme court room at the state house in Springfield Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 25 and 26, 1905.

A house warming will be held in the new quarters of the society on the third floor of the capitol building.

This gathering will be the first since the Historical society of the state was recognized by the legislature. The spacious rooms will be attractively decorated and the Lincoln exhibit, which is now at the world's fair at St. Louis, will be shown.

A meeting of a committee composed of Dr. J. F. Snyder, of Virginia, president of the society; Mrs. Jessie Palmer Weber, the secretary; Mrs. Samuel P. Wheeler and Hon. George N. Black was held Wednesday in Springfield and the program for the gathering was practically completed.

On Wednesday morning, Jan. 25, the business meeting will be held and officers for the year will be elected.

Hon. James Haines, of Pekin, will deliver an address on "A Sketch of Pioneer Life in Illinois." "Old Palestine" will be the subject of a paper by the Hon. J. A. Allen, of Olney. "St. Clair County" will be given by Hon. J. N. Perrin, of Belleville.

Prof. J. A. James, of Northwester university at Evanston, will speak on "Illinois History in the Public Schools." The life of Gen. James Semple will be given by Mrs. Cushman, of Elsa.

Wednesday evening the annual address of the society will probably be delivered by United States Senator Shelby M. Cullom. Following the annual address, Prof. E. E. Sparks, of the Chicago university, will address on "Historical Places in Illinois," illustrated by stereopticon views.

The Hon. Henry McCormack, of Normal, will open the program for Thursday morning with an address on "The Relation of the Illinois State Historical Society to Public Education." The life of Dr. George Cadwell will be reviewed by Hon. R. W. Mills, of Virginia, and the scenes attending the Republican convention of 1856 will be reviewed by Judge J. O. Cunningham, of Urbana. One of the interesting subjects of the meeting will be by the Rev. C. W. Leffingwell, president of St. Mary's college at Knoxville. He will speak on the life of Bishop Finlander Chase, first Episcopal bishop of Illinois, and founder of Jubilee college.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Frances Copley Seavey, of Chicago, a well known magazine writer, will speak on "Father Gibault, Priest and Financier." "The Present Aspect of Fort Chartres" is the subject given to Dr. Homer Mead, of Camden. "Father Pierre, Patriot and Statesman," will be referred to by Jacob Platt Dunn, of Indiana. Hon. James H. Roberts, of Old Mission, Mich., will close the afternoon program with an address on "Gen. John Edgar."

Thursday evening, which marks the close of the meeting, will be known as "Kaskaskia Evening." The papers and addresses will be in holding with the early life at the old state capital, and the addresses will be delivered by Hon. Stuart Brown, of Springfield. Mrs. Samuel P. Wheeler, of Springfield, will be in charge of the "house warming."

DANGER IN FALL COLDS.

Fall colds are liable to hang on all winter leaving the seeds of pneumonia, bronchitis or consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar cures quickly and prevents serious results. It is old and reliable, tried and tested, safe and sure. Contains no opiates and will not constipate. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR CATARRH.

Just Breathe Hyomei Four Times a Day and Be Cured.

If a few years ago some one had said you can cure catarrh by breathing air charged with healing balsams, the idea would have been ridiculed and it remained for that eminent investigator, R. T. Booth, to discover in Hyomei this method of cure.

Hyomei has performed almost miraculous cures of catarrh, and it is to day recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy that can be relied upon to do just what it claims. The complete outfit of Hyomei costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei.

Rev. J. B. Cook, of Holliston, Mass., says: "My wife has suffered greatly from catarrh for fifteen years. Nearly four weeks ago she commenced to use Hyomei and the beneficial effect was immediate. It is very seldom that she needs to clear her head and throat and she is able to rest quietly at night."

Breathe Hyomei through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. It soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the air passages, prevents irritation, and effects a complete and lasting cure.

In Jacksonville there are scores of [illegible] who have been [illegible] Hyomei. It will [illegible] you get the Hyomei

Windows and Mirrors.

Nothing makes windows, mirrors and picture glasses so bright and clear as very hot water to which a spoonful of kerosene has been added. Use a small, clean cloth, wring dry, and rub it over the glass after the framework has been washed or wiped down with an oiled cloth. Go to the next window and wash it in the same way, inside and out, and then go back to the first window and wipe it dry with a large, clean cloth. All the windows in the room can be made clean and sparkling in half an hour by this method, for no real polishing is necessary. The wiping dry seems to impart a shine with no extra rubbing.

Fried Apples.

There is no dish more tasty than fried apples and bacon on a crisp fall morning. Fry the bacon first and keep it hot while thick, round slices of cored, but unpeeled, tart apples are frying in the fat. When they are done arrange them on a hot platter with the bacon ranged about them as a garnish. A little sugar should be sprinkled over the apples. Apples fried in sausage fat and served with the sausage are appetizing.

The Kitchen Measure.

A housewife can manage very well without scales if she will follow this simple plan: One ordinary teacupful of flour is four ounces, so that four teacupfuls make one pound. Sugar is heavier, so do not take a full cup of it to make four ounces. Shredded suet is so light that a teacupful only weighs two ounces. With a very little experience you will measure ingredients quite accurately in this way.

Staining the Floor.

When staining a floor remember to work along the grain of the wood, never across it. A good oak stain is made by putting two ounces each of potash and pearlash in a quart bottle and filling it with water. Keep well corked. Apply with an old brush, for it will spoil a good one, and take care not to touch the skin with it, for it will produce blisters.

RIGHT NOW

IS WHEN WE SERVE YOU BEST

Take our assortment of NEW FALL MERCHANDISE and you'll not find better selected stock in any store. Mistakes of course will sometimes occur, but when they do we are as desirous as you to see them righted. Our greatest asset is the vast army of satisfied customers, who not only give us their trade, but advise their friends to trade at FRANKS'.

Furs at half profit. The fur business is short lived and of big profit generally; not so with us. Our average small percentage prevails in this department as in all others. We can use this space for other things when the fur business is over. See our Scarfs properly priced at $3.75, $5.00, $6.00, $8.00, $10.00 and up to $50.00.

Curtains Here we can serve you splendidly and economically. Look into our Lace Curtain values. 25 pairs special Nottingham Curtains, $1.50 value, $1.00 pair. 25 pair special Nottingham Curtains, $2.00 values, $1.50 pair. Other good values up to $10.00 r pair.

Comforters, full size, made of good materials, both sides figured, specially priced at $1.00.

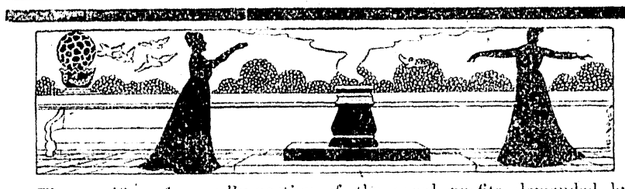
Our Special Dress Goods Items

For this week are merely mentioned here to illustrate the very important fact that our prices are lower than elsewhere for similar qualities and styles—that's why we sell more dress goods than any other store—the closest comparison proves it.

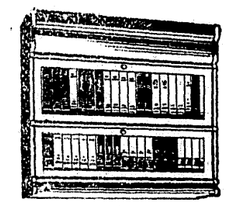
All-wool Broadcloths in the new browns, tans, grays, greens, royal, navy, cardinal, wine, etc.—special value for $1.00 yard.

58-inch Rain Proof Suitings in the new brown and tan mixtures. Just the thing for skirts and coats, $1.25 yard.

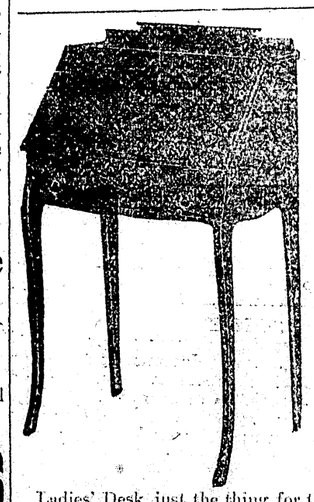
50-inch All-wool Suitings in all the new popular shades. Per yard, 50c.



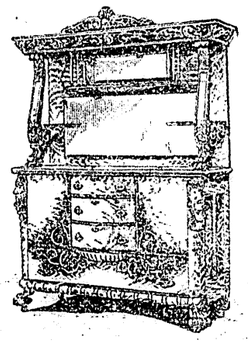
The sacrifice of a goodly portion of the usual profits demanded by others is our way of keeping things constantly moving. By keeping it moving we are enabled to renew it frequently. So you will always find a clear, fresh assortment of Furniture, Carpets, Draperies and Rugs here. No old shopworn goods that show their unpopularity. No articles that give the store a back number appearance. But just the kind of things you want to see in a first-class Furniture Store. Isn't there something here you ought to have?



A beginning of a Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcase. Top, two units and base in solid oak for $7.50.



Ladies' Desk, just the thing for the young lady attending school. One like cut $5.50.



Side Boards. Our line of Sideboards is very complete. We have them ranging in price from $15.00 to $45.00. All the latest patterns.

If you are crowded for room and need another bed, look over our assortment of folding beds (space savers). We have them from $14 to $39.

We still have a fine lot of medium priced Mattings in pieces from eight to fifteen yards that we will sell at half of their values.

If you have not been in our store lately you should call and see the fine showing of new things in fall and holiday trade. No trouble to show goods.

FAMOUS INDIAN BAND.

A great treat is promised all who go out to hear the famous government Indian band at the opera house next Tuesday, Nov. 1. The novelty of such an entertainment alone is sufficient to attract a large audience, for an Indian outside of a wild west show is foreign to the experience of most people. A concert of thirty Indians gathered from all the prominent tribes on the continent is something altogether unique. The spectacle of a band of full blooded Indians playing difficult classical music, as well as the popular airs with a skill that compares favorable with any musical organization in the country will certainly be a revelation. Those who heard this best of Indian bands at St. Louis are enthusiastic in their commendation. The Indian saxophone quartette have made a great hit wherever they have appeared. The director of this unique organization is Mr. Len Wiley, who has been a life long student of music. His many years of experience as a leader of bands has fitted him to make of the government Indian band the great success that it is.

Cloak, suit, skirt and waist sale to day at Montgomery & Deppe.

THE HERRICK LOT.

"The Rosebud Times," published at Bonesteel, S. D., in the issue of Oct. 20, gave considerable space on the fourth page of their paper to the exciting contest held in this city at the Eagles' street fair in the selection of the carnival queen, using the fact that a town lot in Herrick was to be awarded to the winner. They referred at length to this valuable premium as a sufficient inducement to bring about an interesting contest and that Jacksonville was up to date in their selection of premiums.

HARVEST DANCE

Country Club Season Closed Friday Evening—Large Number Present—Many Visitors.

The Country club season of 1904 closed Friday evening with a harvest dance, which was largely attended. The house committee had very tastefully decorated the interior of the club house in true harvest style and golden ears of grain, corn stalks, pumpkins, jack 'o lanterns and other adornments in keeping with the occasion were in evidence. Several large bouquets added greatly to the decorations, while the large fireplace blazed with warmth and good cheer.

The dancing floor was in fine condition and Jeffries' orchestra gave an excellent program, responding liberally to encores.

The house committee are deserving of the sincere thanks of the members of the club for the unsparing manner in which they have given of their time and for the efficient service they have rendered. The members of the committee were: Mrs. S. D. Osborne, Miss Grace Carter, Miss Laura McDonald, A. G. Burr and F. E. Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin was chairman of the committee.

ON THE GOLF LINKS

Last Match of Season With Springfield Players—Men Tie But Visiting Ladies Win.

A party of nine gentlemen and five ladies from the Springfield Golf club came down yesterday for a match game with our local players. In the men's contest each team won an equal number of points, the scoring being by the Nassau system. The outcome was in doubt until the last pair, Brainerd and Capps, came in, and but for the unusually strong game put up by Sheriff Brainerd, of Sangamon county, his team would have been defeated by a few points. He plays a consistent match and in good form.

The individual scores were as follows:

A. C. Brown	0	Osborne	2
Ricketts	0	Scurlock	3
Loose	0	Ledferd	2
Henkle	0	Luttrell	2
Desmoyer	1	Dinsmore	1
W. Allen	2	Sanders	1
J. F. Cadwallader	3	Bellatti	0
Brainerd	2	Capps	0
Lloyd	3	Baldwin	11
Total	11	Total	11

The ladies' match resulted as follows:

Dr. Taylor	0	E. Robertson	1
Miss Price	3	K. Robertson	0
Miss Perkins	1	E. Stryker	0
Miss Matheny	3	Miss Mills	0
Mrs. Coleman	7	Mrs. Scurlock	0
Total	14	Total	1

Misses Matheny and Price and Messrs. Brawn, Loose and Henkle remained over for the harvest party in the evening.

The visitors were entertained at luncheon and supper at the club house and the visit of the Springfield ladies and gentlemen was greatly enjoyed.

NATURAL GAS FOR WAVERLY.

Waverly Journal: The Waverly Oil and Gas company now gives out the information that they have let the contract for boring a six-inch hole near the Waverly Tile company's plant to determine whether or not we are to realize on what our people firmly believe is a golden opportunity for natural gas. The contract has been let to Medora parties and they are under contract to bore a distance of 600 feet. The company here thinks by that time they will be able to determine whether it will be necessary to go down deeper or not, but they intend to go down until the matter has been thoroughl proven. All indications at present point to the possibility of a splendid flow of gas and they consider they are almost certain of success, as the present flow from the old test hole made by the coal company is steadily increasing and shows no signs of weakness. It is expected that the drillers are to begin their work in a hort time and Waverly may yet reap the rewards of a splendid supply of gas which will differ very materially from that which we have become accustomed to.

COAL FIGURES AID THE PARTY

Comparison of Administrations Shows Prosperity Means Republicanism.

DEMOCRATS BRING HARD TIMES

Stagnation Prevailed While Cleveland Sat in the Executive Chair.

Wages of Miners Are More Than Doubled During the Succeeding Rule of President McKinley.

Statistics on the coal industry in the state of Illinois, comparing conditions existing under Republican administrations with the situation under Democratic rule, aptly illustrate the prosperity that invariably accompanies Republican management. We furnish herewith figures covering a period of a dozen years, which form a striking contrast between the effects of Republican and Democratic tariff policies.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, most of which is included in President Harrison's administration, the coal statistics for Illinois are as follows:

Year.	Miners Employed.	Tons Mined.
1893	35,890	19,949,504

CLEVELAND'S ADMINISTRATION.

Year.	Miners Employed.	Tons Mined.
1894	38,177	17,113,576
1895	37,630	19,735,804
1896	37,057	19,786,826
1897	33,788	20,072,738

A study of this table shows that during Cleveland's administration there was not only no increase of output, but actually a loss. But this is not the worst feature. Compared with the last year of the Harrison administration there was a decrease of wages, during these four years, of 35.5 per cent. In Harrison's last year the miners earned $10,653,000, while in Cleveland's last year their aggregate earnings were only $7,521,527. With scanty work and lessened wages, the miner had to bear his share of suffering in one of the worst panics this country has ever seen.

State's Output Nearly Doubles.

In 1896 McKinley was elected, and since his inauguration and the adoption again of a protective policy the country has enjoyed a period of good wages and prosperity. Instead of remaining stagnant, the coal industry has prospered by leaps and bounds, until the output of the state has nearly doubled. Instead of a reduced number of miners, there are now more than 15,000 more employed than there were six years ago. Wages are fully 50 per cent higher in Illinois coal mines now than they were in 1897. These statistics may be clearly tabulated as follows:

TONS PRODUCED.

1893, Harrison	19,949,504
1897, Cleveland	20,072,738
1901, McKinley	26,635,319
1903, Roosevelt	34,020,896

WAGES RECEIVED BY MINERS.

1893, Harrison	$10,653,000
1897, Cleveland	7,521,527
1901, McKinley	14,147,462
1903, Roosevelt	19,071,327

NUMBER OF MINERS EMPLOYED.

Cleveland's first year	38,177
Cleveland's last year	33,788
McKinley's first year	35,026
McKinley's fourth year	41,143
Roosevelt (1903)	49,814
Reduction under Cleveland	4,389
Increase under McKinley and Roosevelt	16,026

Organization Only Incidental.

This increase in the number of men employed and in the wages received was largely due to the policy of the Republican party, favoring American industries. Opponents of the Republican policy, and the radical element among the miners themselves, try to deceive miners into believing that the improvement referred to was due exclusively to the miners' labor organization. We would not deny that much good was done by the organization, much more perhaps than is generally realized, but the main purpose of an organization is to secure a more equitable division of profits, and where there are no profits there can be no division of profits. First, let there be profits, and then let there be an equitable division of these profits between labor and capital. A labor organization does not of itself increase the demand for coal. This demand can arise only when the industries of the country are in operation, and call for coal supplies; and they can be in operation only when through the application of judicious national policies, they can run with a profit. Republican policies enable industries to operate at a profit; Democratic policies put them at a disadvantage.

To show that the improved condition of the coal miners of this state is not exclusively due to their organization, as is claimed, it is only necessary to call attention to the fact that the miners' organization was no stronger in 1893 than it was in 1897, and yet that in the former year wages were 35 per cent higher than in the latter. This proves that for a labor organization to be successful the policy of the government must be so devised as to create a demand for labor. The Republican policies do this, and the Democratic policies do not.

Wage Fund Is Doubled.

Let it be remembered that as the result of the Democratic tariff the output of coal in this state in the Cleveland years averaged less than in 1892-1893, and that the miners' wages fell from $10,653,000 in 1893 to $7,521,527 in 1897. Then contrast these four years of stagnation with the succeeding four years under McKinley and under Republican policies. The coal output of the state increased over 6,000,000 tons from 1897 to 1901; and, what is most important, the wages increased from $7,521,527 to $14,147,462 annually.

Other conditions considered, it is safe to say that the miners' wage fund was more than doubled in McKinley's four years. Nor did the improvement stop there. During the last few years, and since McKinley's lamentable death, the coal output is 15,000,000 tons more a year, and the number of men employed about 16,000 more, than in Cleveland's last year, while the wage fund is nearly three times as great.

In 1897 we had a wage fund of $7,521,527 to divide among 33,788 miners, while in 1903 we had a wage fund of $19,071,327 to divde among 49,814 miners, making the wage fund 72.5 per cent higher under Roosevelt than it was under Cleveland, and giving work to 16,176 more men.

DENEEN

WHAT IT MEANT.

During the Republican state convention held in this city this year, it was noticed that the Deneen delegates wore badges with the figures "10,000" printed on them in large type. Those figures meant that State's Attorney Deneen ran 10,000 votes ahead of President McKinley in Cook county at the election in 1896. That shows that he is very popular in the metropolis of Illinois. His record as prosecuting attorney for Cook county is such as to commend him to all good, law-abiding citizens of whatever party. He has enforced the laws without fear or favor and has allowed no guilty man to escape, regardless of whether he might be a pauper or millionaire.

In Joliet prison there is what is known as "Banker's Row," and the eminent financiers who occupy those cells were given quarters in that big bastile through the efforts of Mr. Deneen.

At the same prison there is what is known as "Bunkers' Row," and the among the occupants of those cells are many of the most expert thugs and assassins of Chicago, nearly all of whom had powerful friends and plenty of funds at their backs when their cases were called for trial. But all of these were unable to save them from the vengeance of an outraged law. These facts speak volumes in praise of the ability and fearlessness of Mr. Deneen in the discharge of his duties as a public prosecutor, whose duty it is to see that the majesty of the law is sustained and upheld.

In the performance of his duties as prosecutor Charles S. Deneen has shown that he is the kind of a man needed for governor of this great commonwealth. He has been weighed in the scales of public opinion and not found wanting, and that he will be elected by an immense majority goes without saying. His record is a strong plank in the Republican platform.

In addition to all this, Mr. Deneen is a self-made man, and what he is today is due to his own efforts, for from his youth up to manhood he had a rocky road to travel. His candidacy will appeal to the old boys of the sixties, for his father fought under the old banner of the One Hundred and Seventeenth Illinois infantry and helped to bring it back in honor to where it rests today in Memorial hall at the state house, a silent testimonial to those whose valor made Old Glory supreme on land and sea, even to the far away isles of the Philippines.—Springfield Journal.

Closing another week's work in southern Illinois, Mr. Deneen reported satisfactory conditions in all of the counties he has visited. His meetings have been largely attended and enthusiastic. The farmers in the country through which he has been passing are pleased with the crops and prices. The party is united and Mr. Deneen has not found any defection from Republican ranks in any of the counties. The good impression left by Mr. Deneen is making votes for the party in every county visited.—Kewanee Star-Courier.

He (Deneen) made a very favorable impression here, both personally and as a candidate for a high office, and it was the common talk after the meeting that Mr. Deneen made votes for himself and the whole ticket, Saturday. There were many Democrats in the crowd and Mr. Deneen probably had no more interested hearers in the whole audience.—Carbondale Free Press.

His (Deneen's) argument is forcible and decisive. He does not indulge in flights of oratory nor high-sounding phrases, but deals with cold facts in a most interesting manner. For forty minutes he held the audience in a breathless stillness, something remarkable at so late an hour.—Marion Leader.

From the hearty welcome the Hon. Charles S. Deneen is receiving at the hands of Republicans in southern Illinois, his election over Stringer will exceed 10,000.—Illinois Idea.

IS STRINGER HONEST NOW?

Action as Candidate Differs From His Senatorial Stand.

HIS DEMAGOGY IS DISGRACEFUL

Makes Charges Which He Did Not Dare Utter Under Oath.

Shows Inconsistency and Insincerity in Attacking Administration He Defended for Four Years.

In the community where Hon. Lawrence Stringer lives he is regarded as an honest man. As a legislator, so far as known, he was never suspected of being a boodler. This much must be said in his favor, notwithstanding his actions as a candidate.

Mr. Stringer would hardly try to obtain money by the confidence game—he would not try to sell gold bricks, or for a consideration offer to show anyone how the state house or the Masonic Temple would turn round.

But he is playing equally as disreputable a game in his candidacy for governor. He is going over the state denouncing the present state administration as corrupt; he is making all sorts of charges of mismanagement of state institutions under the Yates administration.

Never Heard to Complain.

For four years Mr. Stringer has been a member of the state senate. He was a sworn servant of the people. It was his duty, under his oath of office, to protect the interests of the people.

If there was any wrong-doing in any state institution; if there was anywhere any mismanagement; if any official in any state institution was not performing his duty, it was Mr. Stringer's sworn duty to have made an effort, at least, to have had an investigation.

In his four years in the senate he was never heard to complain. At no time did he ever make any suggestion, such as he now makes.

Stoops to Demagogy.

The reason is plain. Then he was acting under the solemnity of an oath, and so acting he could find nothing to criticise. Every state institution was honestly and economically conducted. Now he is free to make all sorts of charges which, as a senator, he would have fought to the bitter end in the senate.

In his present attitude, he is dishonest. He is trying to secure an office by the boldest sort of a confidence game. He is stooping to a species of demagogy that is as disgraceful as it is inconsistent, when compared with his action while the official oath of the senator controlled him.

CHICAGO'S NEW CHARTER

Every voter, whether Democrat, Republican, Prohibition or what not, should vote for the amendment to grant a new charter to Chicago. She needs a new one, so she can fully legislate for herself in local matters, and have no one but herself to blame if mistakes are made, and cease taking up the time that the legislature should give to the business of the state. Don't forget this; vote for the new charter for Chicago. All parties favor it, and if you don't vote for it you vote against it.—Danville Commercial-News.

The Chicago charter amendment deserves the support of all the voters at the coming election. Chicago wants to discard its Igorrote clothes and put on full man's attire.—Springfield Evening News.

Will county will vote on the adoption of the primary law this fall. La Salle county adopted this measure two years ago, and has not been able to hold a caucus or convention since which complied with the law. Will county should join in the scheme for a general state law. The present law is a failure outside of Cook county, where it furnishes the bosses jobs for 3,500 workers for an afternoon at $5 per.—Streator Free Press.

The last few years of Republican administration have added untold millions to the agricultural wealth of the country by opening new markets for farm products at constantly improving prices. The beauty of the Republican policy of protection is that it develops manufacturing and agricultural interests on parallel lines.

There is no lethargy among southern Illinois Republicans. They are up and doing. The young men are pushing to the front and the older voters are earnestly and actively pushing the campaign.—Carbondale Free Press.

Speaker Cannon has gone on the stump and it is not safe for Democratic candidates to stay within range.—Springfield Journal.

A DELINEATOR OF HEROES

(Original.)

I am a tenderfoot, or, rather, I was a tenderfoot, but there's not a man in New Mexico who cares to cross my path. The terror I inspire does not come from my bravery, my skill with the revolver or my strength. I am rather timid. I couldn't hit a barn door with a bullet, and I am but five foot three.

Now, how do I strike terror into the citizens of this region? I will tell you.

When I came out to this benighted country, with my delicately cut cameo face, my six and a half lady's kid hand and my 5A shoe, I was considered too insignificant to be noticed by the more manly inhabitants, but was subjected to continued annoyances by those who were mean enough to take advantage of my diminutive size. But one man really threatened me, and I have always excused him, for I fell in love with his daughter, and the worst of it was she preferred me and my intellectual tastes to the muscular bullet perforating men of the frontier. When Bill Stanhope, Lucy's father, learned how the land lay he informed me in the extravagant language of New Mexico that if he ever caught me with Lucy he would "let enough sunshine through me to light a church."

I was riding one day through a lonely valley and on emerging from a wood saw in an open space just below me two men approaching each other on horseback. At first I supposed they were riding up to have a talk, but suddenly one of them raised a Winchester and fired at the other. Then I saw that they were Zeb Gallagher, the most dreaded desperado in New Mexico, and Bill Stanhope. I saw Stanhope's hat fall to the ground and concluded the bullet had knocked it off. He took it mighty coolly, I thought—I didn't know that he happened to be short of cartridges—rode on slowly without firing till he got within better range, then raised his rifle, took a sure aim and fired. There was a rapid exchange of shots after this for a few seconds, neither man doing much damage.

It looked as if I had one chance in ten to be relieved of the man who stood between me and happiness, but somehow I thought of Lucy and how her father's death would break her heart and wondered what I had better do. Stanhope had come to within a hundred yards of me; Gallagher was still 500 yards away. The first thing I knew Gallagher threw away his rifle and came on the gallop for Stanhope with his revolver. I knew by this that he was out of ammunition and looked for Stanhope to kill him with a rifle bullet before he came up. But Stanhope was evidently in the same fix, for he, too, dropped his rifle and began firing with his revolver. I counted eleven shots between the two, then I saw Stanhope toss his revolver to the ground, fold his arms and sit quietly in the saddle, evidently waiting for Gallagher to finish him. Gallagher deliberately examined his revolver, and, taking five cartridges from his pocket, added them to the one left there. While he was doing so I dismounted, and, scurrying along on foot behind low bushes, darted up to Stanhope and handed him my revolver. As Gallagher was putting in the last cartridge Stanhope shot him dead.

I never shall forget the expression on Stanhope's face as he turned his eyes from his falling enemy and rested them on me, without whose timely interference he would by this time have been a dead man. He looked me all over from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet, apparently struggling up to a realization of the fact that he was indebted for his life to such an infinitesimal specimen of a man.

"Sonny," he said presently, "what did you do it for?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, Mr. Stanhope, at first I hoped he'd down you; then I'd be free to marry Lucy. But when I came to consider how she would feel about it I wanted you to win."

"I didn't suppose you could talk so near like a man. You own me, since if it hadn't been for you I'd have been a dead man this minute. You can have Lucy, but what are you going to do with her? You can never live in peace among people who don't fear you. I'll tell you what we can do. I'll inform the community that it was you who killed Gallagher."

"That's an idea!" I replied.

"What do you want to make of yourself?" he asked after a pause.

"I want to run my little ranch and scribble."

"Scribble what?"

"Stories, articles, anything in the literary line."

"Well, you go home, and hereafter you'll be known as the man who killed Gallagher. I reckon you won't be pestered much after that job. And so far as Lucy is concerned, why, if she's willing to take a man who has more respect for a pen than a revolver I suppose under the altered circumstances she'll have to have her own way."

The next day when I appeared at the postoffice an opening was made for me by those waiting, and every man took off his hat. I have ever since been a terror to all the men and the admiration of all the women. My wife and her father are the only two persons who know the secret, and the former has so long seen me treated like a brave and desperate man that she has at last come to believe that I am one. But this may be on account of the many brave and desperate heroes I have drawn in my stories. My friends say that no one but a daredevil could ever depict such remarkable coolness and courage.

A HAPPY MOTHER

WEATHERFORD, TEXAS, May 14, 1903.

Before my baby was born I was in great misery. I was just able to be about but just as soon as I began to take Wine of Cardui, which had been recommended to me, I felt much better. In fact I feel that if it had not been for this medicine I would not have been strong enough to live through childbirth. But that was made comparatively easy by taking your medicine for four months before baby came. Wine of Cardui restored my health as I took it two months afterward. I cannot speak too highly of Wine of Cardui and I am glad to endorse it

Mrs. C. C. Wood

TREASURER, YOUNG MATRON'S CLUB.

Wine of Cardui is a powerful tonic which acts on the generative organs of women, regulating menstruation and giving tone and strength to the organs which inflammation and weakness have affected. It cures nineteen out of every twenty cases of bearing-down pains or ovarian trouble.

Wine of Cardui cures barrenness and aids the mother in conserving her strength for the ordeal of childbirth. After that event the Wine prevents dangerous flooding and helps mothers to quick recovery. Wine of Cardui is the one medicine a mother should use before and after childbirth.

A VERY REMARKABLE REMEDY.

"It is with a good deal of pleasure and satisfaction that I recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Druggist A. W. Sawtelle, of Hartford, Conn. "Recently a gentleman came into my store so overcome with colic pains that he sank at once to the floor. I gave him a dose of this remedy which helped him. I repeated the dose and in fifteen minutes he left my store smilingly informing me that he felt as well as ever." For sale by all leading druggists.

Export of Manufactures.

Figures recently issued by the department of commerce and labor at Washington show that during the month of July last our exports of manufactures amounted to $40,000,000, against $21,000,000 of agricultural products. During June the exports of manufactures were nearly $41,000,000, against $17,500,000 of agricultural products. This is the first time in the history of the country that the exports of manufactures have exceeded those of the farm. This does not mean that the exports of farm products are falling off, but that those of manufactures have greatly increased. This is due to a protective tariff which, while it benefits American manufactures, also increases the home demand for American farm products.

A NOTRE DAME LADY

I will send free, with full instructions, some of this simple preparation for the cure of leucorrhoea, ulceration, displacements, falling of the womb, scanty or painful periods, tumors or growths, hot flashes, desire to cry, creeping feeling up the spine, pain in the back and all female troubles to all sending addresses. To mothers of suffering daughters I will explain a successful home treatment. If you decide to continue it will only cost about 12 cents a week to guarantee a cure. Tell other sufferers of it, that is all I ask. If you are interested write now and tell your suffering friends of it. Address Mrs. M. Summers, Box 465, Notre Dame, Ind.

Now Ready

The repairs upon my store building have been completed and I am now ready to show a full line of Wall Paper and Paints. I am prepared to handle large or small contracts for high class painting. In order to reduce my stock to make room for fall styles, I will continue the present great discount sales, which have been so attractive. My store will be open every Saturday evening to accommodate people who cannot call during working hours.

to most women is a term of anxiety, serious thought and sweet anticipation.

With the cessation of pain necessary to childbirth, there comes calm nerves, sleep and recuperation.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

does diminish the pain accompanying maternity. With its aid mothers can and do bring healthy, sweet dispositioned and ideal babies into the world.

Morning sickness, sore breasts and excruciating pains caused by the gradually expanding organs, are relieved by this penetrating and relaxing liniment.

Among the manifold aids to childbirth Mother's Friend has grown in popularity and gained a prestige among rich women as well as poor; it is found and welcomed in the mansion as well as in the cabin.

By lessening the mother's agony of mind and diminishing pain a beautiful influence is wrought upon the child, and instead of peevish, ill-tempered and sickly forms you have healthy, laughing humanity, remaining a blessing ever to you and its country.

All Druggists sell Mother's Friend at $1.00.

MATHENY & LLOYD.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Wheat—Sentiment was bearish from the start. Selling was general at the outset and increased as the session advanced, the market acting as though floor traders had prepared for an advance yesterday owing to foreign political conditions. The more assuring advices from Europe, coupled with lower cables, fine weather and liberal receipts resulted in a complete change of sentiment and liquidation of long property was the rule. At the close December was ⅝@¾c lower and May off ½c.

Corn—There was fair trade, with feeling weaker, close showing December off 1c, May ⅝c lower. Lower cables, subsidence of war talk, large Argentine shipments, fine weather and decline in wheat were all factors and tended to discourage longs and liquidation was quite general the last half of the session. Country acceptances were small.

Oats—Weaker and closed ⅜c lower. Trade was moderate and mostly local. Buying of 250,000 bushels May at the close rallied prices ⅛c. Country offerings were light.

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Flour, bbls	25,000	10,000
Wheat, bus	137,000	47,000
Corn, bus	100,000	298,000
Oats, bus	139,000	106,000

LIVESTOCK.

Cattle—Supplies are running larger than ever. To day's receipts were 6,500, compared with 5,000 last Friday. Trade was very dull at further reductions. Sales were made at 15@50c from prices paid a week ago, the decline affecting all except prime, worts being in medium cattle, although good lots showed quite a falling off in prices. Good to prime, $5.80@6.60; poor to medium, $3.75@5.50; stockers, $2.00@4.25; cows, $1.50@4.50; Texans, $3.50@5.50.

Hogs—There was about 30,000 on sale to day. Trade was good, prices ruling about 10c lower. Mixed and butchers', $4.90@5.30; good to choice heavy, $5.10@5.30; rough, $4.50@5.00; light, $4.90@5.05; bulk of sales, $5.00@5.15.

Sheep—Receipts, 5,000. To day's run was nearly twice as large as that of last Friday, but receipts show a large falling off from last week. Sheep have advanced materially and lambs of best grade were 35c higher one time this week than last week, but improvements were lost later. To day's prices were strong on scarcity of offerings. Sheep, $3.00@4.50; lambs, $4.25@6.00.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

New York, Oct. 28.—With fears of a rupture between Russia and Great Britain relieved stocks scored a sharp recovery to day. There was assertion of recovered bull control of the market and exertions were made in the list to make higher prices. These efforts met with success. A striking feature of the market, however, was decline in interest at higher levels and lapse into actual dullness at time the market was very small. In early dealings U. P. maintained well its recent prominence in the market, impelling factor being decision on the part of the Oregon Short line directors to avail themselves of the privilege under the mortgage to retire participating bonds. Closing quotations:

Money on call steady at 2@2½ per cent; lower, 2; ruling rate, 2¼; last loan, 2½; closing bid, 2; offered at 2¼. Time loans easy and dull; sixty days at 3; ninety days and six months at 3¼@3½.

FRANZ JOSEF MIRAGE.

Remarkable View Explorer Got of Unreachable Land.

William S. Champ, of the Ziegler relief expedition, who recently returned after failing to reach Franz Josef Land in the ship Frithjof, tells a remarkable story of the mirage in that region, says the New York Tribune. The object of the voyage could be seen clearly in the sky, but it was impossible to reach it, although the land seemed to be within a few miles of the ship. He said:

"We skirted the ice pack from 40 degrees east longitude all the way around to 70 degrees 10 minutes, looking for an opening in the ice. For a distance of from thirty to forty miles out from the shore of Franz Josef Land it was one limitless bed of screwing, grinding ice. One night about midnight the captain called me on deck and pointed to a low, dark line near the horizon. 'Do you see that line?' he asked. 'That is the coast of Franz Josef Land, reflected in the clouds.'

"It was the most wonderful thing of the kind I ever saw. We could see the outline of the coast there in the sky so clearly that we could easily recognize different ponds and bays. The outline was just the same as if we were at a considerable height in a balloon off the coast and were looking down at it. Of course we were too far away to see the land clearly, but the coast line and the sky line of the elevations could be seen very distinctly.

"I shall go back next summer, prepared to reach Franz Josef Land at all hazards. If the ice conditions which prevail there now continue another year, I shall freeze the Frithjof into the ice pack and when the winter sets in and freezes things up shall go on over the ice. There will be no turning back."

JAPAN'S WAR FUND.

Baron Kaneko Says His Country Can Finance a Long War.

Baron Kentaro Kaneko of Japan, who arrived in the United States on a special diplomatic mission early in the year, was recently interviewed in New York by a reporter of the New York Tribune. Baron Kaneko declared that Japan could surely finance a long war if it should prove necessary. He said:

"Our financial condition at this time is vastly better than was expected. The deposits in the postal savings banks have been greater for the year ending with July than in the twelve months preceding, the clearances have also increased and the foreign trade has been greater. Besides the rice crop, our principal staple, is the largest in ten years, and the yield is 20 per cent greater than normal. This increase alone has a value of over 100,000,000 yen, or $50,000,000.

"The loan of 80,000,000 yen floated in Japan a week ago was the balance of 280,000,000 authorized by parliament to be floated at home at the same time that the foreign loan of 100,000,000 yen was placed in England and the United States. Parliament will meet again in November and will then take up the new budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1. Large sums will undoubtedly be derived from new sources of internal taxation and so minimize the loan requirements. It is, of course, possible that a new foreign loan may be offered, but that will doubtless be decided when it shall appear whether our requirements can be met more favorably at home or abroad. Of one thing I am thoroughly convinced, as the result of careful consideration of the subject, and it is that we are able to finance a long war if that be necessary."

Safety Device For Naval Gunners.

Under the supervision of Commander Karl Rohrer the ordnance department in the New York navy yard is installing a smoke ejecting device on the big guns of the battleship Kentucky to prevent what are known as "blowbacks" when the guns are fired, says the New York Herald. When the breech of a big gun is opened after a shot has been fired it happens sometimes that gas and smoke which have accumulated in the bore become ignited and flash back into the turret. If powder is exposed in the turret an explosion is almost sure to follow. The new device consists of an accumulator and connections that force a current of air through the gun from the breech, expelling the dangerous gases from the muzzle.

The Autumn Fires.

There's a misty strand of color where the skies and mountains meet;
The goldenrod is growing by the river's hurrying feet;
The gleaming scythes are swinging through the billowy fields of wheat,
And the autumn fires are burning on the hill.

The orchard's fruited boughs fulfill the promise of the spring;
The ripened rowan berries in their beauteous clusters cling;
The birds upon the lowland fields prepare for journeying,
And the autumn fires are burning on the hill.

The maple glows in crimson and the birch in rarest gold,
And a blaze of amber beauty wraps the beeches in its fold,
Still the mystic torches touch them in the evenings calm and cold,
And the autumn fires are burning on the hill.

There's a drossy stillness dwelling within the air at noon;
There's a haze along the valley beneath the midnight moon;
Strange voices swell the chorus of the rivulet's soft croon,
And the autumn fires are burning on the hill.

All golden are the daytime hours, and silver is the night;
The harvest hills are teeming, and the harvest stars are bright,
And a pledge of peace and plenty breathes through the glorious night,
And the autumn fires are burning on the hill.

AUTO RACING DANGERS

Leon Thery's Suggestions For American Road Contests.

NOVICES SHOULD BE BARRED.

French Automobilist and Bennett Cup Winner Says Drivers of Racing Machines Ought to Be Men of Ability and Skill—Exciting Incident of Recent International Automobile Contest on Long Island.

Leon Thery, the winner of the Gordon Bennett cup automobile race in Germany last June, was the guest of the Automobile club of America the other night in New York and at the request of President Winthrop E. Scarritt, the famous French racing automobilists, gave a brief talk on his experiences in road racing, supplementing his remarks with a few ideas regarding the conditions of racing abroad and in the United States, says the New York Times. Since his arrival Thery has visited the course recently used in the Vanderbilt cup race and made a careful study of all its good and bad features. He does not speak English fluently, so that his talk was translated into English for the benefit of the members by Gustave Callois, who came over with Thery and who also ranks among the leaders of French automobilists of note.

President Scarritt said in introducing Thery that he was anxious to hear as many practical suggestions as possible, with a view of improving the Vanderbilt racing conditions next year. M. Thery began at once with a discussion of the road.

"In France," he said, "we had the road first, then the railroad. Here you had the railroad first, and hence your public highways are not, as a rule, as good as ours. The Vanderbilt cup course was good, but there was too much of a sameness about it. It was flat and had some bad turns, but when the machine had become accustomed to these it simply had to do the same thing over and over again. There was little variety. In the Gordon Bennett course, which was ninety miles long, there was a hill nearly two-thirds of a mile long, and one of the controls was at the foot of the hill, so that when the car stopped the brakes had to be put on. Then the start was very difficult, as the hill had a 15 per cent grade, and the ability of the motor was taxed severely to get up the hill from a standing start. An entirely different machine, therefore, would be built for such a course than for a flat and short one like the Long Island course."

One valuable suggestion that Thery made was that the drivers of racing automobiles should be men of ability and skill. He pointed out how, in France, a prominent firm would not sell one of its fast racing cars to a novice, as the inexperience of the latter might damage not only the car, but also the reputation of the manufacturer. He mentioned the fact that in the last three big races abroad, including the Gordon Bennett race, not an accident occurred, due in a large measure to the ability of the drivers.

The greatest danger, Thery said, in a fast road race is in turning corners. He did not fear a punctured tire when going at full speed on a level, but a puncture when turning a corner might have very serious results.

One of the members asked Thery if on a level his car went as fast as it could, the member stating that Fournier had at one time said that no racing automobile ever had made its limit of speed simply because the nerve of the driver was not equal to letting it out to its maximum speed. With a wonderfully expressive smile and a shrug of the shoulders, as only a Frenchman can give in expressing his contempt for such an assertion, Thery replied in a few words of French, which were translated by Callois as follows:

"Sure he went as fast as he could. If his car could have gone faster he would have made it go faster. He says that is foolish. Every good driver gets all the speed out of his car that it can give when racing on a level stretch."

Nothing quite so thrilling in the racing line has ever been seen on the American continent as the recent international automobile race on Long Island for the Vanderbilt cup, says a New York dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. Not only was the race itself sensational, but there were many incidents that thrilled the spectators along the course which were not visible to the spectators in the stands. Here is one of them:

The most exciting incident of the day was at Plain Edge corner. Campbell, the driver of Mr. Stevens' Mercedes, and Ferand Gabriel came roaring down the Massapequa road almost abreast of each other. It was clear that Gabriel was trying to pass Campbell and that he was in no mood to stand back on ceremony. Although Campbell had the lead some distance before they approached the acute angle, Gabriel made a spurt and threw his machine out upon the grass entirely out of the oiled path.

He came alongside Campbell at a time when it seemed they would hurl both machines out into the field twenty feet from the corner. It appeared that the wheels of the two automobiles were already entangled when by some marvelous trick the Frenchman caused his racer to gracefully retire and wait for Campbell to pass around the death trap. Then, with a leap, Gabriel went after him, overtook him within 200 yards and passed him, while the awe stricken crowds, with their hearts in their throats, cheered loudly.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

How to Stretch Lace Curtains Without Injuring the Edges.

To the housekeeper who finds it necessary to have her lace curtains laundered at home the drying part of the undertaking presents the chief difficulty. There is so much danger of the patterns being injured during the stretching ordeal. When the stretcher has been adjusted for use fasten the end of a ball of clean white cord to the first hook of one of the longer sides of the frame, carry to the corresponding hook on the opposite side, then back again to the second hook on the first side, then over to the corresponding hook on the second side, always remembering to keep the string as taut as possible, and so on until the entire length of the stretcher has been crossed and recrossed. This cord, being small, in nowise interferes with the curtains being slipped over the hook just as intended, while the network formed by its being passed from side to side of the frame furnishes a support for the central weight of the wet curtain. There is practically no strain on the edges of the curtain, and the chances of its being torn are reduced to a minimum.—Designer.

AN ORIENTAL VISITOR.

Rev. Krekor Hagop Basmajian, of Constantinople, is in the city to remain several days. He and his family came to this country from the capital of Turkey, where he was a preacher and journalistic writer. He became a citizen of the United States that he might return to his native land under the protection of our government, and while here graduated from Croser Theological seminary, at Chester, Pa. After the massacre in Armenia the sultan shut out every naturalized American Armenian insisting that they must renounce their American citizenship and become subject to Turkey as they were before. Mr. Basmajian refused to do this, hence remains in the United States. He is the author of a book entitled "The Oriental Life," published by the American Tract society. He has traveled in many states in the north and south, preaching in the churches and lecturing in the schools and colleges. Since his coming here he has spoken in several of our educational institutions, including the high school and other public schools, the Woman's college; also the Business college. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mr. Basmajian will speak at the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms upon the subject, "Under the Shadow of the Crescent." He will also sing in English, Armenian and other oriental languages.

Trade Palace to day, cloaks and suits.

CHANGED RESIDENCE.

Mrs. L. B. Williamson has removed from South Church street to the Mathews property at 722 West College avenue, and is now pleasantly located there. Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Whittemore and Prof. A. J. Moore will have rooms at the same house.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A pleasant surprise was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. House on Epler street Thursday evening, in honor of Harvey Wilburn. The evening was spent in dancing and other amusements, and light refreshments were served.

Those present were: Misses Serena and Gertrude Herman, Ella and Gertrude Wade, Zora Pierson, Jessie and Bessie Guthrie and Allie and Maude Wilburn; Messrs. Robert Pierson, George Wade, Henry and Harvey Wilburn, Charles Herman, Floyd Waffel and Jesse Wely; Mrs. Biggs, Mr. and Mrs. N. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. R. House.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Alma Keil, daughter of Mayor Keil, of Beardstown, and John G. Pratt, of Virginia, the happy event to take place at the bride's home at 8:30 p. m., Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Mr. Pratt is the popular manager of the Cass County Independent Telephone company. He was a former student of Illinois college. The bride-to-be is well known in this city, where she has visited frequently.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spires entertained about thirty-five of the young friends of their son, George Spires, Jr., Friday evening, in honor of his eighteenth birthday. A very pleasant time was enjoyed until a late hour, with music, games, dancing and other amusements. As the guests dispersed all wished their host many happy returns of the day.

ROODHOUSE CORN CARNIVAL.

Roodhouse is holding a corn carnival this week, which is meeting with great success. The management of the affair have secured a most creditable lot of exhibits and the golden grain is much in evidence all over the business section of the town. ILLINOIS DEFEATED MILLIKIN 18 TO 16

Grit Triumphs Over Beef—Plucky and Phill Fight Made by Local Eleven too Much for Visitors Who Refuse to Play—Story of the Game.

Illinois college defeated Millikin university Friday afternoon on the Illinois field by a score of 18 to 16. The game was undoubtedly the fiercest ever played on the local field. A large crowd was present and the rooting of the Illinois supporters in the face of probable defeat was splendid.

The first half resulted in a score of 16 to 0 in favor of Millikin. The Illinois men in this half were taken by surprise and were unable to stop Millikin's weighty line plunges. The Illinois team is the lightest in years and Millikin outweighed them several pounds to the man.

From the minute the whistle sounded in the second half, however, Illinois swept everything before them. They fought with the desperation of despair. Every man threw himself into the game and this spirit turned the tide and saved the day.

In the second half Illinois forced the ball down the field to the three-yard line and R. Harmon crossed the line like a catapult, scattering his opponents right and left. Soon afterward, Orear, by a splendid 50-yard run, scored another touchdown. Illinois got the ball again on their 20-yard line. It was getting dark and the Millikin coach, who was refereeing, was apparently trying to delay the game. However, the ball in three plays was advanced to Millikin's 20-yard line. Here the referee, seeing the tide going against his team, tried to call the game on account of darkness. He ordered his men off the field, although some of the visitors protested against leaving in such a cowardly manner; but the majority were against them. As the Millikin players started off the field Brown circled the end for a touchdown. Goal was kicked and the score stood 18 to 16 in Illinois' favor.

R. E. Harmon was back in the game for the first time this season. His play was characterized by all his former force and vigor and added much strength to the team. W. Harmon was badly injured early in the contest, but played in his usual good form. Wylder, McKinney and Cowdin, of the linemen, showed up well. Orear, as usual, was one of the favorites. His work on the defensive and offensive received well earned applause. McDonnell had an injured knee, but was put in at guard, where he put up his usual game. The visitors lacked any sensational players, but excelled greatly in forming and interference and team work.

ACTION OF REFEREE.

The action of Ashmore, the Millikin coach, who was allowed to referee the game, was a piece of childs play. Time had not been called and under the rules, when the game is called on time, no power is given, either expressly or implied, whereby the referee can arbitrarily stop the game on account of darkness. His action was met with shouts of derision from the spectators and several of the men on his own team plainly showed that they were not in favor of such tactics. The Illinois men did the only thing they could do under the circumstances, namely, made their third touchdown, which was only a matter of one more play, and for which the remaining time of the half gave ample opportunity. The stand taken by the visitors is unfortunate, as the relations between the students of both schools had heretofore been most cordial.

The visitors went home without receiving their expense money, as it was claimed by the Illinois men that they violated their contract agreement in leaving the game contrary to the rules.

The return game with Millikin is scheduled for Thanksgiving day, but after the game Friday the Illinois boys asked to be released from the game, as they did not desire to play with any team that would not abide by the rules. The Millikin manager refused to sign a waiver of the contract for the return game and upon his refusal the Illinois men took the ground that they had violated their agreement made to play a fair game here and that unless they would release them from further obligations they (Illinois) would stand on their rights to the letter. Both sides stood pat and the visitors departed on the 8:59 train without an agreement having been reached.

THE GAME.

Millikin kicked off to R. Harmon, who returned the ball to the 25-yard line. The visitors held on the 40-yard line and advanced the ball to the 20-yard line, where Tobias fumbled and Alberts got the ball and scored a touchdown. Try for goal failed; score, 5 to 0.

Millikin again kicked to R. Harmon, who returned the oval 20 yards. Illinois carried the ball to the 40-yard line, where they lost it on downs. Millikin returned the ball to the 30-yard mark, where Illinois obtained it. Orear made 20 yards around the end and the ball was lost to Millkin by a fumble on the 40-yard line. By a series of mass plays outside of tackle Millikin sent Moore over for the second touchdown. Goal failed; score, 10 to 0.

Millikin kicked off and by a trick of kicking the ball to one side got the ball on Illinois' 40-yard line. After several plays Moses was sent over for a touchdown. Crae kicked goal; score, 10 to 0.

Millikin kicked off again. McKinney gained ten yards through tackle. Illinois advanced steadily down the field to Millikin's 30-yard line, where they tried a quarter back kick, which failed, and Millikin carried the ball back to Illinois' 30-yard mark. Here they were held for downs. Illinois punted to the center of the field. A few plays placed the ball again on Illinois' 30-yard line. An attempt at a place kick was easily blocked. Illinois took the ball to the 50-yard line, where time was called.

SECOND HALF.

Illinois kicked to Millikin, who were soon forced to punt. Brown fumbled the punt and Millikin obtained the ball on the center. Illinois held for downs and punted to Crae, who was downed in his tracks. McKinney at tackle, although pitted against a man eighty pounds heavier than he, made several good tackles. Illinois stopped the visitors on the 30-yard line. Orear made 10 yards and R. Harmon placed the oval on the 4-yard line. On the next play, R. Harmon charged the line for a touchdown amid great excitement. Brown kicked goal; score, 16 to 0.

Millikin kicked to Conover, who returned the ball 20 yards. Millikin obtained the ball on the 40-yard line. After advancing 30 yards an attempt at a drop kick failed. The ball was kicked out from the 25-yard line. Illinois held for downs and received the ball on their 50-yard line. Orear gained 15 yards and a trick play netted 10 yards more. On the next play Orear broke loose and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. The students went wild with enthusiasm. Brown kicked goal; score, 16 to 12.

Millikin kicked off to Conover, who advanced the ball 25 yards. At this point considerable time was lost while the referee consulted the rule book. In three more plays Illinois carried the ball to the 20-yard line, where the dispute about time occurred. While the visitors were leaving Brown scored another touchdown and kicked goal; score, 18 to 16.

Touchdowns—Alberts, Moses, Moore, for Millikin; R. E. Harmon, Orear and Brown, for Illinois. Goals—Brown, 3; Crae, 1. Referee—Vickery and Ashmore. Umpire—Ashmore and Vickery. Linesman—Stubblefield. Score—18 to 16.

NOTES.

Umpire Vickery, who has refereed many important games in this and other cities, stated after the game: "Illinois was perfectly right in scoring the last touchdown, as there is nothing in the rules saying that the referee can call the game on account of darkness, unless mutually agreed upon before the game."

A rather exciting incident occurred during the first part of the second half. One of the Millikin substitutes, seeing that his team was losing, tried to sneak into the game and assist in stopping the Illinois men. He was detected and was immediately surrounded by a mob of indignant students bent on having revenge. The timely arrival of two policemen prevented any trouble.

Whenever you become discontented with your lot and yearn to belong to the nobility or become one of the fabled 400 just buy a Sunday paper and read some of the doings of the alleged upper classes, particularly abroad. On one page Sunday we read of "a distinguished member of the Berlin 400" to be tried for selling titles; of a German prince confined in a madhouse; of the Duke of Marlborough threatening to close Blenheim castle because the duchess does not provide enough money to keep it up; of a boldness between the father of Miss Pauline Astor and the mother of her plebeian betrothed, Capt. Spender Clay, in the face of the wedding set for Thursday of this week; and of a quarrel in the Austrian royal family over certain estates involved in the morganatic marriage of a profligate prince. These are just samples out of a job lot of scandals and the like that mark the weekly record of so-called high society, but they should tend to make an ordinary, everyday citizen, as well as his ambitious wife, fairly well satisfied with his lot.
